PATRON STORIES REQUESTED!

Since the beginning of the Patron program early this year I have continually requested and urged that each new Patron also submit some personal information on themselves so we all can learn more about these special people who unselfishly donate to the O&B. I'm totally confident that when Patrons do submit something personal everyone thoroughly enjoys and appreciates it!

in the absence of PATRONS submitting a personal note or information on themselves I have on a few past occasions called on my admittedly limited journalistic talents to try and give us all at least some insight into the personal side of the Patron. As you can imagine creating these stories can be quite time consuming and challenging, so PLEASE try to always include a bit about yourself with a photo or two.

This is not to say that I don't still plead for non Patron stories The O&B is ALWAYS requesting stories from all subscribers. It can be on your career, hobby, a super vacation, how you have endured the quarantine a new car or just a bunion that hurts. The only subjects that the O&B has listed as no, nos since the very beginning have been stories on you grandchildren, politics and religion.

So this is a special invitation to all subscribers, PLEASE SEND SOMETHING, WITH PHOTOS!!!
THANK YOU!

Hi Jack! Greetings from the Valley of the Sun.

Dave and I moved from Minneapolis to Green Valley, AZ 16 years ago. Much warmer here! Enclosed is a small stipend to help defray expenses for the O&B Newsletter (which Dave and I do enjoy a lot). Thanks for your time and efforts to keep it coming. If your "cash drawer" gets low, let us know!

Thanks again, Jack.

Hi Jack:

June 30, 2020

After reading the latest O&B, I told myself to take the time NOW to send you a note with an enclosure, as I shouldn't be putting it off any longer. There are always things to do, but some things need to come to the top of the pile. Now is your time! I've only communicated with you once and that was to advise you of Jane Bates Plunkett's death.

Thanks so much for your devotion to this project, a project which means so much too so many people. Each one of us probably reads it with a different meaning and thought. I say, "oh, I remember him/her...maybe I don't remember the name, but the face is familiar. I went to Longfellow grade school and remember many from those days. Sadly when I read of someone's passing, I think about my interaction with that person and remember to count my blessings.

A quick accounting of my life: married following college (Vermillion), Then lived in Bisbee AZ for 9 months while hubby Bill Byrnes finished his army obligation at Ft Huachuca, moved to Des Moines, Kansas City and Overland Park, Ks during our 54 years of marriage. Bill is now deceased, but I'm fortunate we have a son and daughter with their family who live close. Also I'm thinking about moving into a local retirement center, but with the virus...we'll see.

Bill was a commercial artist by profession and also a fine art artist who exhibited in local shows. I was an administrative assistant and then became an account executive with a speakers bureau.

The best to you and your family. Happy 4th!! Thanks again.

Hal and I first became close friends, literally, in 1953 when he played left end and I played left tackle on our WHS unbeaten football team and we have remained good friends ever since. Hal was always an outstanding athlete for WHS. He was also a starter on the super talented '53/'54 WHS Varsity Basketball team. Hal is now retired and resides in Surprise, AZ.

Hal, thank you for your generous support of the O&B and for almost 70 years of friendship.

Hal was #34 as a junior and senior on the WHS Varsity Football Team.

Dear Jack,

A big thank you for your hard work publishing the Q & B. We appreciate your great effort.

As you know, this has been a difficult year healthwise for Dick. He was in the hospital last winter in La Quinta, then a respite home there - next a home in Mpls and finally Touchmark here in Sioux Falls.

We decided to bring him home last Friday. The mental challenge of being quarantined with no friends or family allowed to visit is not easy at age 85 (or any age!) We hope for the best.

Again, we look forward to reading the next edition. Our best to you!

Fondly,
Jeanne and Dick

The appropriate caption under this photo of Dick in the 1953 Warrior was,
"Basketball Machine, Dick Wold, tries for two."

I always enjoy my fairly frequent phone visits with Dick, but our in person visits are always way too infrequent. The last time I saw Dick and his very special wife, Jeanne Rademacher, from Garretson, SD, was when they bought my breakfast in Sioux Falls on July 15, 2018 at the Minnehaha Country Club. Dick met Jeanne while Dick was a sophomore and Judy a freshman at USD. Dick was a member of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity and Jeanne was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority at USD. The Wolds have always been an extremely popular and gregarious couple throughout South Dakota.

The many activities listed for both Tom and Linda in their respective yearbooks attest to how popular and busy they both were during their years at WHS. In addition to them both being very busy, Linda was considered to have the "BestFemale Physique" in '59 and Tom was considered to have the "Best Male Physique" in '58.

One of Tom's proudest moments while at WHS had to be when he was named to the "Class 'AA' All-State First Team in Football".

As you know, I lived across the hall from Bob and Lauverne Burns here at Country Club Estates. He was very humble about his return to Holland on the 50th anniversary of his jump into Holland during WWII with the 101st airborne. They had a ceramic plaque they displayed on their door showing soldiers parachuting into Holland. John (Simco '57), you remember how I worked and worked to convinced Coach Burns to attend our 40th class reunion and how he dug in his feet. But when you and (Jim) Luce ('57) convinced him to attend, he finally showed up he made the remark to me, "You win," and that was very hard for him to admit. I have attached Bob's war record..

Lt. Robert "Bob" Burns

NEWS FROM OUR BOYS TO PARACHUTE TROOP

Lieut. Robert ("Bob") Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Burns, 507 Otoe street, who has been stationed at Camp Wheeler, Georgia, has been transferred to Fort Benning, Georgia, to take a six-week refresher course before joining the parachute troops. Burns starred in athletics at Central high school and at the University of South Dakota and was a member of several of The Journal Golden Gloves teams.

Veteran of Famous Airborne Unit Tells of Normandy, Arnhem and Bastogne

Veteran of 46 parachute jumps, three of which landed him in apparently hopeless positions behind the German lines in Europe, First Lt. Robert G. Burns now feels that he has had enough jumping and fighting.

"It will be all right with me if I don't even take an airplane ride for awhile," states the former member of the famous 101st Screaming Eagle airborne division. The story of his experiences was elicited from him somewhat reluctantly under pressure of persistent questioning by this interviewer. (The interviewer was Neil Miller, Sunday Journal Writer.) Lt. Burns was one of 14 officers and 147 enlisted men who landed by parachute on the coast of Normandy to prepare the way for the Allied invasion. Their particular objective was a battery of 12 howitzers, which were firing across the channel of Dover. Putting these guns out of commission was essential to the invasion plan.

A Leap in the Dark

"It was six minutes before midnight when he jumped from transports which had carried us across the channel," he related. "Our faces were blackened to lessen visibility. Because we didn't know exactly how the Nazis would react to the attack, we wore bulky clothing, which was heavily impregnated against poison gas."

The gun emplacements were protected by a concrete moat and high voltage wire. Perpendicular poles planted throughout the area brought disaster to many of the troops who attempted to land by glider.

day before we landed, allied airmen blasted several holes in the moat. We came down with grappling hooks, which helped some of the men over the wall. Some landed inside the gun emplacement.

Germans Taken by Surprise.

"The Germans were taken by surprise, although they informed us later that we had been expected the preceding day. I landed so close to a Nazi antiaircraft battery that I could hear the voices of the men and the click of machinery as they cleared a jam. It seemed funny at the time that they were shooting at allied planes overhead while we were slipping up on the ground behind them.

"Our men worked silently and swiftly. Hand grenades were lobbed into the midst of the gun crews. Other Nazis were caught in their rest quarters. One after another, the big guns were put out of action, we sent up green signal flares and the full scale invasion was on."

Later, when the Allied drive stalled near Carentan, members of the 101st airborne division fought their way, inch by inch, to the outskirts of St. Come du Mont, and there staged the first bayonet attack of the second world war. The attack beat back German resistance and cleared the way for the allied advance, June 7.

Only Surviving Officer

Of the 14 officers and 147 men who made the midnight jump to the coast of Normandy, Lt. Burns and 36 enlisted men were the only survivors. At the end of the European campaign, it was announced that the division's casualty list equaled 175 per cent of its original strength. Lt. Burns made his second combat jump behind enemy lines in Holland, where the advance of the British Second army was stalled near Arnhem.

"We were at a rest camp in England when we got orders to take off," he says. "That mission resulted in one of the most grueling experiences of all. To deceive the enemy as to our destination, we made a long flight southward over France, then back over Belgium to Holland. "We were in the air about three hours, and tension among the men was mounting steadily. I noticed one of them in particular. He was on the verge of cracking up, and that sometimes is contagious in a group of men who are under terrific mental and nervous strain.

Death Strikes Close.

"As we neared our target, I grabbed this fellow and held him in front of me at the hatch while I waited for the pilot to give the signal to jump. A burst of flak caught us at that moment, and the man in my arms was killed. The rest of us made the jump, landing behind the German lines."

The fight in Holland raged for three days before members of the airborne division joined British forces.

The group later was stationed in Rheims, then headquarters for the allied command, expecting to drop down somewhere in advance of Gen. Patton's Third Army and clear away obstacles.

"We were called out and briefed four different times for that job," Lt. Burns says. "On each occasion, by the time we were ready to take off, Patton's forces had swept past our proposed landing area."

A Heroic Stand

The call finally came on December 17, when the hard pressed German army suddenly staged an about face and started a breakthrough, which threatened to sweep through Luxemburg and Belgium and hurl the allied invaders back into the channel. Members of the Screaming Eagle airborne division were ordered to the vitally important communications center of Bastogne, Belgium.

"There were no planes and parachutes that time," the lieutenant says. "We went into Bastogne in trucks before the Germans arrived. We were supposed to fight a delaying action, then retreat, but we held on instead. The Germans started another drive. Infantry and panzers crashed against our defenses at Bastogne, then swung around the city until we were completely surrounded. "It was our commanding officer, Brig. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, who gave the new famous reply of, "Nuts," to a German suggestion that we surrender. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, top commander of the 101st, was in Washington at the time."

Lt. Jimmy Toy Killed

Help was on the way, but it was the day after Christmas before units of the Fourth armored division battled their way into Bastogne and relieved the battered members of the airborne division. Twenty-two more days elapsed before German resistance finally was crushed out in that area. It was on the first day at Bastogne that Lt. Jimmy Toy of Sioux City was killed.

Lt. Burns received the silver star for the Holland exploit and the bronze star for the Bastogne ordeal. The Purple Heart medal also has been awarded to him twice, for wounds suffered in Normandy and Bastogne.

During the nine months he was in training in England, between spectacular and hazardous actions on the continent and after V-E day, he served as division athletic officer and trained boxing teams, which fought in England, Wales, Paris, Munich and Czechoslovakia. Exactly one year after the initial landing in Normandy, the 101st division staged a track meet in Hitler's hideout at Berchtesgaden.

Golden Gloves Champion

A former Central high school football star, Lt. Burns won the light heavyweight championship in the Golden Gloves tournaments here in 1941 and 1942. He was heavyweight champion at Fort Snelling, Minn., and at Charlotte, N.C., and was heavyweight runnerup in the New York Golden Gloves contest in 1943. He was captain of the University of South Dakota football team in 1942.

Lt. Burns is a native Sioux Cityan. His mother, Mrs. Magdalena Burns, lives at 507 Otoe street. His father, Joseph L. Burns, died several years ago. A brother, James Burns, now is in the air force at Panama. The lieutenant was graduated from the University of South Dakota in 1942 with a B.S. degree in physical education. His postwar plans include a master's degree in physical education and an assignment as football coach.

Right Photo: Bob and Lauverne Burns with Bob Berguin '53. Date and occasion unknown. It was always obvious to me how these two Bob's truly loved each other. Burn's was always in Berquin's corner and vice versa with deep love and admiration the center of their bond.

As a great admirer of both men I always felt their relationship was much like a beautiful father / son relationship.

I suspect many of Burn's players shared Berguin's feelings for our great coach. I know I did!

CONGRATULATIONS TO LOREN LITTLE '59 OF LAS VEGAS FOR WINNING THE SOUTHERN NEVADA AMATEUR SILVER NET

(Over 60 Years of Age)

GOLF TOURNAMENT, NET (1)

Loren Little '59 posted his first SNGA major victory, holding on for the Silver Net title. "I had a lot of luck the last two days," Little said. "I had probably more birdies the last two days, four, than I usually get in a year. They all kind of run together but those were very memorable." He said he'll be the first to tell everyone the wind was tough. "I must admit on the 15th tee the wind blew me over," he said. "It took two of the guys to pick me up again. I had no idea where my drive went but they were able to find it for me. That's how strong the wind was."

Free Music CD Two Years Ago

Jack, I just spent the last hour listening, again, to the CD of "The Music Was Great In '58". Just wanted to thank you again for this CD of music we enjoyed then. It is one of the most treasured CD's I have.

Royce, First of all, thanks for writing and letting me know that you are still enjoying the '50s Music CD I made for each member of your '58 class that attended your 60th Reunion two years ago. I certainly appreciated and enjoyed being invited to attend your reunion. It was truly a fun weekend for me! Jack

Thanks Jack for the CD. It is a great selection of songs, brings back memories. Last night Dee and I rode around town in the convertible and listened to it. Kinda felt like when we "cruised" down Phillips Avenue way back when.

Thanks again for the enjoyment!!! Going swimming now - 91 here today

Royce, since you were one of the first to order a new CD through my "Patron Appreciation Program" you obviously have received yours. As you know, that offer of a free Music CD ended yesterday.

For all of you other Patrons that ordered a CD but have not received yours yet, I just mailed out the last of the orders this morning. The Post Office said they all should be delivered to you no later than Tuesday July 28th. I hope you all enjoy yours. Jack

Part of the 3rd floor of the WHS building now has some historical displays. There is a whole small classroom, lots of photos of sports teams, and more. The seats here are from the balcony/study hall.

Sad to report the death of Jerry Wall class of 1956 here is all the information I know. Anton Jared (Jerry) Wall was born December 15, 1938 to Andrew and Ester Wall. He graduated from Washington High School in 1956. He served in the U S Navy from June 1957 to June 1960. He married Leona Geiken (class of 1960) on October 15, 1960. They had three children, Kristeen, Kathy, and Karaleen. He worked at REA's in Colman, SD; Bismark, ND; and Ely, NV. They retired to Reno, NV. He died April 13, 2020. He was a friend to many, a best friend to Terry Feay for 72 years! RIP Awall.
